ALICE RAWSON SCHOOL FOR MOTHERS.

While the grass grows the steel stands, and while Parliament is too busy dealing with pleasantries to consider the case of such hundred minor institutions which are entitled to nominal grants come to their aid.

To such a state has come the Alice Rawson School for Mothers, than which there exists no more useful work in our land. Ever since its inauguration about three years ago this institution has been supported entirely by private subscriptions, chiefly coming from the wealthy. But the girls who have been educated give all in their power, and there is a limit to their giving capacity, and it is certainly most unfair that an institution which exists for the welfare of the community should be entirely supported by one class.

The School for Mothers has been of invaluable aid to many a woman, and the advice given has no doubt been of great value.

One of the secrets of the little frocks is to bring some note of originality into them, and to make a careful selection of colour.

A simple and dainty gown was in black and white striped cotton voile, falling straight and very slightly full. The sleeves were elbow length. This gown had a trimmings of batiste lace at the waist, and a belt of lace at the waist. The bodice was lined with the same lace, and the skirt was made of the same lace.

This gown had a trimmings of batiste lace at the waist, and a belt of lace at the waist. The bodice was lined with the same lace, and the skirt was made of the same lace.

For summer dresses lace will be largely worn. This, of course, is not a very new thing, as it has been trimming the gowns for some time. The linen gowns will show a good deal of lace and embroidery of the corner kind. The sleeves are to be short, and the bodice long, so as to give the effect of the woman who is not the possessor of a very shapely arm. But to the more fortunate ones the fashion is welcome, as it gives a decidedly more dressy air. The sleeves are somewhat wide, and are generally trimmed with kilts frills of net or lace, which provide a very pretty finish.

With the arrival for Empire styles and the introduction of the lace of black velvet into so many of the gowns, it is more than probable that the black velvet bracelet, with a clasp of some kind, generally a cameo, will come into favour with the short sleeves.

The summer frocks, the gowns and the coats and jackets are declining in favour, although for evening they still are worn; but for the day and afternoon gowns the heavy "cable" cords of old gold and silver have been done away with, and in their place the material itself is corded.

The powers that be have expressed their appreciation of the institution. They have seen with their own eyes the mothers coming for advice and guidance, and the babies being weighed and examined, and they have promised the necessary help to the school to the extent of £2000. An unfriendly paper has however,攻撃ed the minds of our Parliamentarians, and so the school, which bears the name of the same, has been addressed by the members of the Alice Rawson School for Mothers.

An unfriendly paper has however,攻撃ed the minds of our Parliamentarians, and so the school, which bears the name of the same, has been addressed by the members of the Alice Rawson School for Mothers.

It is a credit neither to our sense nor to our judgment that the Alice Rawson School for Mothers should be allowed to teach such a class. A few years ago, Sydney was failing over itself to show its affection for Alice Rawson and her father. Thousands and thousands of people came to wave farewell and to weep at their departure, and all felt as if they were losing persons dear to them.

Among the embroideries, the broderie Anglaise takes an important place. There are designs worked out in a single colour on white. In the fine lingerie models the open-work embroidery is much used. Bold open-work designs are often used on heavy linens, entering into combination with the finest of linens and laces. Some very deep and elaborate examples of embroidered laces and lace will be seen.

The evening gowns are still made differently on left and right sides. The Schut that has become such a favourite is frequently folded over one side of the gown only, a bunch of flowers catching it to the waist in front. This makes a long line from the shoulders to the hem of the gown. The other side of the gown is fastened perfectly plain of its own material, it being drawn over the shoulder in the kimono style.

We certainly do not seem to be returning to the simple life, when one looks at the new parasols and the gorgeous handbags which are displayed in some of the window-panes.

Many of the smart ones are in two-toned satins. A novelty of the season is the shirred lining to the parasols; it gives quite a canopy effect when it is raised. With summer frocks, the white linen parasols are always in favour. Many have motifs in embroidery.

A flame-colour red that is very becoming proves to be very popular with evening dresses. A small, round sunshade with a short handle will be much used at the races; it is too small to hide the view from anyone. Some of the parasols slope down to the kimono style.

The handbags grow more magnificent every day.

The craze for them to have them very flat and shaped like envelopes. They are made of leather, and some are made with members, and no fee is charged them. The secretary room pieces are also acceptable, and the members of the society, and especially to bring together, matresses and wands that will be congenial. The president appoints a committee of three to investigate any complaints against matresses. If it is proved that a woman has treated a maid unfairly, housed her poorly, or fed her meanly, she is struck off the list. If she improves a maid, she is similarly treated.

If a maid holds a position for two years she is awarded an emblem of merit from the society. This entitles her to special consideration.

That's the kind of remark that one hears a dozen times a week from persons who object to all the "new-fangled" ideas of education. "Something useful" is the perpetual cry; "give us something useful, which brings money, and which can be applied." Something useful is what the Americans do in business—writing in one of the magazines to say how valuable the college-trained girl is proving in commerce, and the girl is provided in commercial chemistry or physics; and that a girl who means to go into the commercial world should spend her time on shorthand and typewriting, not on poetry or history. But now comes a fairly little speech, stated that she was only interested in women's work in Britain, and American business—and it is generally agreed that she had also an intimate knowledge of various women's organisations in both countries.

It is said to be with the idea of developing the "business" instinct that our Director of Education, Mr. Tait, has founded the Australian Parvise, a domestic science course of practical value in the State school curriculum. After a three years' course at the hotel students are appointed in elementary high schools and are sent to the various districts, at a salary of £10 per year. At present about 50 girls are being trained there, and the course is that the girls take up life behind a counter. She does not see her in chemistry or physics will benefit her should she go into an office. Now, Mrs. Taylor has said that she has had no training in the college, and therefore she is not able to teach her to teach anything, and she has acquired confidence in her own ability, and shows this in her poise and bearing.

"Business" means all over the country have some realisation of the opportunity of doing business, just as a man who has practised statistics can outdo the man who is "sooth," as the college woman finds that she is the minister.

The college woman begins with the habits of observing closely; mathematics have taught her to reason; while the ordinary girl will sit with her hands in her lap, awaiting the lesson, the college woman begins with the hands on her hips, and the head held high.

All the housework at the hotel is done by the students, they attend lectures at the University on physiology, biology, medicine, and bacteriology, and the School of Domestic Science is visited by them to study up-to-date methods of housekeeping and home-caring are likewise included in the course.

The college student is responsible for the care of her own clothes, and the housework is done by the students.

The training of nightingales for three nights.

KOKO FOR CHILDREN'S HAIR!

WELDON'S JOURNAL SAYS:

"Koko is perfectly harmless, and may be used with impunity for the hair of children and infants. It both refreshes and cleanses the scalp, and imparts a glossy, well-cared-for appearance to the hair, besides eradicating Dandruff."

THE QUEEN, The Ladies' Newspaper:

"Koko is invaluable for promoting the growth of children's hair, and for its unmatched purity is of great importance, for the risk of putting unknown compounds on the hair of growing children cannot be overlooked. Koko renders the hair delightfully soft and glossy, and has a wonderful recuperative action on the scalp, cleansing it of Dandruff, and so promoting that natural, healthy growth without which none can hope to have beautiful hair."

AUSTRALIAN MOTHERS FIND KOKO SPLENDID FOR CHILDREN'S HAIR.

"My little girl had poor hair from the time she was a baby. It never seemed to grow; but after using Koko friends marvelled at the growth."

"My daughter's hair fell out terribly after fever; but Koko has made it grow wonderfully. You would hardly credit it."

"Koko is splendid for cradle cap; it is also cleansing, and improves the growth. My daughter's hair has grown considerably in a short time. I was astonished at such a rapid growth." (Names given.)

for Piles give instant relief and effect a speedy and permanent cure.

These Pills are confidently brought under the notice of all who suffer from the distressing complaint of Piles. They have been proved to be of the greatest benefit in the treatment of both external and internal Piles, and supersede all local applications, which at best afford merely temporary relief.

Murphy's Pile Pills possess herbal properties which thoroughly purify the blood, heal the affected parts, and absorb the Piles by natural methods. They give instant relief, are non-aperient, perfectly harmless, and cure permanently. Sold by all leading chemists and storekeepers, or may be ordered direct from the Proprietors. See coupon below.

Price, 3/- per box, post free.

Convincing Evidence:

"I want to give you an unsolicited testimonial regarding the efficacy of your Pile Pills. I was a sufferer from severe piles for over ten years; and I now take this opportunity of stating that (although I had given up all other forms of treatment) the above your pills are the only ones, of any remedy, that has produced such favourable and satisfactory results. In fact, I was forced to take to my bed, I was told that nothing remained for me but to undergo a serious operation. I tried them, and they were a great success, curing the above disease. I now use Andrew Murphy's Pile Pills. You are at liberty to use this letter any way, and I will always feel grateful to your wonderful and sure cure."

CHATEAU TANUNDA

BRANDY

Agents: TUCKER & CO., 215 Clarence-street, Sydney.

In various stages of development the Chateau Tanunda contains more than a million gallons of Wine and Brandy.

Some of this Brandy is nearly twenty years old, and is used for blending purposes only.

In the No. 1 Bonded Store along the visitor to the Chateau can see over 125,000 gallons of Pure Grape Brandy. Before the casks enter this store they are paraded before the Government officers, who make careful notes of their identification marks, date, and weight. For two years the Brandy remains in this store, closely guarded by Customs officials, who hold the keys.

The contents of this one store are worth over £80,000 in duty to the Government. Large quantities of Chateau Tanunda Brandy are also maturing in two other Bonded Stores.

At the end of its two years' confinement in Bond the Brandy remains in the cellar of the Chateau until it reaches the age necessary to bring it up to that uniform quality for which the Chateau Tanunda Brandy is celebrated.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

SCIENTIFIC STOCK-FEEDING.

A welcome addition to Australian agricultural literature is A. Renard's "A.B.C. of Scientific Stock-feeding," received from George Robertson and Co. Pty. Ltd., Melbourne. Scientific feeding of stock is practically ignored in this country. The reason is not far to seek. With large areas and a wonderfully rich country, our cattle and sheep are easily fed, and the cost of feeding does not suggest, to those close to stock-feeding, Nature was dependent upon, and it must be admitted has in the main done the work well. Changing conditions, however, necessitate an alteration in methods, and it is certain that increasing settlement and greater development of overseas markets for meat, butter, cheese, and eggs, and certain world-wide competition, the farmer and small grazier at least, to give more attention to stock-feeding. To-day, whether we like it or not, we cannot dispute the truth of the writer's statement when he says:—

"Australian husbandry is too much left to chance, and the extent of land being depended upon to put meat and other perishable products into market, no amount of care and attention to stock-feeding, energy will be needed every time the market goes down. The grazier, however, has the advantage of the farmer and small grazier in that he is compelled to pay more attention to stock-feeding. Nature was dependent upon, and it must be admitted has in the main done the work well. Changing conditions, however, necessitate an alteration in methods, and it is certain that increasing settlement and greater development of overseas markets for meat, butter, cheese, and eggs, and certain world-wide competition, the farmer and small grazier at least, to give more attention to stock-feeding. To-day, whether we like it or not, we cannot dispute the truth of the writer's statement when he says:—

BEECHAM'S PILLS

are a special preparation for all ailments connected with the stomach and the digestive organs. They are always good, efficient and gentle. Their claim to popular favour is justified by the fact that they are a safe, reliable and economical preparation, and they are easily absorbed. For those conditions they have been before the public, and so great is the esteem in which they are held that there is hardly a man or woman in the world where their medicinal value is not known and appreciated. They are equally in favour in the masses and the ruling classes. They justly popular because they are to be depended upon. When the liver is out of order, when the appetite is feeble, when the nervous forces are slackened, and there ensues a feeling of depression, we can depend upon Beecham's Pills to restore the body to its normal state again. They will accidentally hit upon the right remedy. Rather than trust to a doctor's advice, with an established record for curing difficulties, remove the evils of dyspepsia, stimulating the liver, and regulating the bowels, with Beecham's Pills, based upon the experience of many years, justify everyone in agreeing them as

ARE

KING OF SPAIN SURPRISES SPECTATORS.

"The London season ended with a bang," says a writer in the "Daily Mail," "and the season of the London week should have been quite interesting.

Usually it is as tame as a closing week possibly can be; but on Thursday the King of Spain showed a select few spectators at Hurlingham that he really means business.

His exhibition was so good that many old hands were delighted with the form he showed.

He played as No. 2 in the 10th Lancashire team that defeated a team from the Royal

Foot Guards, the Earl of Shrewsbury, Mr.

R. J. Grenfell, and the Marquess de Villiers.

He is intimately connected with the Marquess who continually plays in London. I thought the King not only displayed quite admirable arts of horsemanship, but his hitting was quite good, and his riding was full of zip.

His exhibition was his best performance.

His neatness, his near-side hitting in the feint of his play; indeed, he often showed an inclination to so work his pony into that he was given this street rather than the orthodox forward shot on the stick

THE TURF.

A SIX FURLONGS STRAIGHT.

A correspondent, evidently a new arrival and with as he puts it, a fair knowledge of English racecourses, writes that he visited Randwick on the occasion of Tattersalls' Club September meeting, "and was greatly impressed with the magnificent stands erected there, which completely eclipsed anything of the kind that he has seen in England, but his admiration did not extend to the staid and orderly members of the Jockey Club, who accepted Maher's explanation of his riding, and acquitted him roundly.

The racehorse, Lorna Bee, by Launceston from Bee Bee, and Sir Redvers, by Sir Tritram, simply frightened Maher, who joined the metropolitan brigade in Queensland.

The Government law imposed on totalizators in New Zealand during the past racing season, aggregated upwards of £50,000.

Nearly a week later, at the Redcar meeting, the governing body dealt with the matter, and while it is not clear what action was indicated rightly in referring the case to the stewards of the Jockey Club for further inquiry, the awards of the Jockey Club surviving those of the metropolitan brigade were not suspended, with the time with regard to the unreliability and bad temper of the horse, accepted Maher's acquittal and him roundly.

The racing season of 1911 has now definitely closed. The last bull has been kicked, the last cheer given, and players are no longer turning their thoughts to less strenuous, if not less enjoyable, pastimes. The season opened amidst omens of misfortune, with the usual country week scheme of the governing union was abandoned this season, several of the country centres arranged tours to make up for the loss of the metropolitan, and the metropolitan had a balance after the usual suspended.

The Metropolitan Union faced a difficult task in the preparation of its fixtures, and the result of decisions to the League.

EQUIVOCATION.

AN ANGRY FRANCE.

GERMANY'S LATEST REPLY.

A PARIS WARNING.

BERLIN, Sept. 18.—M. Jules Cambon, the French Ambassador, has received the German "rejoinder" in regard to the French-Moroccan proposals.

PARIS, Sept. 19.—The "Temps" states that there is an impression that Germany's reply will cause the paper adds: "By provoking public opinion Germany is incurring grave responsibilities. Her persistence and equanimity might lead to something worse than the fatal ruin in Berlin, and remove the possibility of an agreement between an aggressive Germany and an angry France."

RAILWAY COMMISSION.

EMPLOYERS' CASE.

TOLERANCE AGAINST RECOGNITION.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Lord Claud Hamilton, chairman of the Great Eastern Railway, giving evidence before the Railways Disputes Commission, stated that the majority of the employees of the Great Eastern Company wished to deal directly with the employers. Recognition of trade unions, he said, could lead to chaos. It would be disastrous commercially, and enable an organization to tyrannize over an unorganized industry.

Sept. 19.—Lord Hamilton, in the course of his evidence before the Railways Disputes Commission yesterday, attributed the failure of the Hallswaymen's scheme to the determination of the Hallswaymen's Society to make a failure.

He said that the arbitrator should be a High Court Judge. Any person of a lower standing would not be acceptable to the disputants.

He advocated the imposition of a heavy fine as a term of imprisonment in the case of those who broke awards, and declared that Parliament should legislate in regard to intimidation. "Peaceful picketing," he said, "is a misdemeanor."

Personally he would have fought out the present strike to the end.

The witness averred that any scheme that the Commission could devise would not satisfy the unions. They were not satisfied for the purpose of being satisfied in any case, he did not see any reason for satisfying the disturbances of public or private property.

RUNAWAY MOTOR CAR.

ELEVEN PEOPLE KILLED.

SYRACUSE (N.Y.), Sept. 18.—An automobile during a race plunged off the track at a high rate of speed and killed eleven people in the crowd, several women.

The track was wet, having been watered by the dust for President Taft's ride to the opening of the races.

Many people in the crowd in the path of the motor were injured.

The races, however, proceeded.

NATIONAL INSURANCE BILL.

PROTEST OF ODDFELLOWS.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The Manchester Unity Order of Oddfellows issued a strong manifesto against the National Insurance Bill.

It states that the amendments of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Lloyd George, must be resisted at all costs, or it will mean a long stride towards the destruction of friendly societies.

M. STOLYPIN DEAD.

BOGDROV'S PURPOSE WON.

"DEATH IS CREEPING ON."

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 18.—The Premier, M. Stolypin, has succumbed to his wounds.

Sept. 19.—

Latterly M. Stolypin suffered almost unbearable pain, and several times he ejaculated: "Death is creeping on."

There was a brief improvement after the bullet had been extracted, but then the heart, which had been affected last year, yielded to the strain of the internal hemorrhage.

CAZAR AT BEDSIDE.

The Czar has left Kieff for Teterenoff.

The streets in Kieff are patrolled day and night, as the authorities fear a pogrom.

Sept. 19.—

The Czar returned to Kieff yesterday, and paid three visits to the bedside of the Czar prior to the latter's death.

CANADIAN POLITICS.

ANOTHER SENSATION.

PRESIDENT TAFT AND MR. HEARST.

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—A sensation has been caused by the published statements authorised by the Thiel Detective Agency that President Taft intended Mr. Hearst, the well-known United States newspaper proprietor, to flood Canada with election literature favouring reciprocity.

A prominent Montreal Liberal supports the charge.

Mr. L. Borden, the leader of the Conservative party, has issued an appeal to the Canadian electors, pointing out that reciprocity will mean the final absorption of the Canadian fiscal system by that of the United States.

CONFlict WITH TROOPS.

MADRID, Sept. 18.—It is officially stated that the anarchist and syndicalist committee in Barcelona has organised a general strike, also that it has been arranged to dynamite the telegraph, telephone, and railway lines.

Gangs armed with knives and revolvers attempted to intimidate the newspapers.

The leading members of the committee have been arrested.

A general revolutionary strike has been declared in Valencia, and martial law has been proclaimed. Troops have occupied the town.

BLOWS OCCURRED AT SARAGOSSA.

Crowds are parading the streets of Valencia, committing excesses.

PARIS Sept. 18.—There have been frequent conflicts with the troops, and shots have been exchanged.

The Civil Guard at Saragozza charged the mob last night, and there was firing both sides. One person was killed and five wounded.

STRIKE MATTERS ARE QUIETER ELSEWHERE.

VIENNA, Sept. 18.—Strike matters are quiet now. Six thousand troops are patrolling the Ostrava district, where the dear food riot took place yesterday.

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—In view of the dear food ruling for meat, owing to the scarcity of fowls, the Prussian Ministry has adopted an emergency railway tariff, reducing the freight on fowls by 50 per cent.

REVOLT IN CHINA.

PEKING, Sept. 19.—The British Consul at Ching-tu, reporting on the 13th instant, stated that all the foreigners in the city were well, and had not, up till then, been molested.

Practically all grades on the Great Southern and Western lines in Ireland have struck.

DUBLIN, Limerick, Ennis, and Tipperary are isolated.

THE STRIKERS BURNED THE HOUSE OF A SIGNALMAN.

The strikers burned the house of a signalman, who had remained at work at Thurles.

Two revolver shots were fired, and the signalman had a narrow escape.

The strike has extended to Queenstown, disorganising the American mail.

REVOLT IN CHINA.

Practically all grades on the Great Northern and Midland lines.

Various regiments have been ordered to Dublin.

THE SHORE STAFF OF THE LONDON AND NORTH-EASTERN COMPANY AT THE DUBLIN QUAYS HAVE STRUCK AND ENORMOUS QUANTITIES OF PARISHABLES ARE IMPERILLED.

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Practically all grades on the Great Southern and Western lines in Ireland have struck.

DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—The shore staff of the London and North-Eastern Company at the Dublin quays have struck and enormous quantities of parishable goods are imperilled.

SWIMMING.

TANGIER, Sept. 18.—M. Bregili, carrying a passenger, has aeroplane to Fez.

AERONAUTICS.

FLIGHT TO FEZ.

M. Bregili, carrying a passenger, has aeroplane to Fez.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—At a meeting of non-unionist railwaymen at Widnes, Lancashire, it was decided to form a society of free workers.

The speakers protested against the "tyranny of the trade-unions."

Mr. Fox, secretary of the Railway Engineers' and Firemen's Union, has formulated a scheme for a federation of railway workers' unions. If it is accepted the non-unionists will be notified that they must join within a prescribed time.

A MISSING VICTORIAN.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The police are searching for Mr. Henderson, a dentist, of Rutherglen, Victoria, who disappeared from a London hotel in October last.

A man resembling him stayed at Southall early in the year, and left for Tunbridge Wells in April last.

THE MISSING WOMAN.

CHARGE AGAINST DR. PEACOCK.

FIRE ON THE FARM.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The court was again crowded to-day, when the hearing of the charge against Dr. Samuel Peacock of the wilful murder of Mary Margaret Davies was continued.

Detective Conran, cross-examined by Mr. Bryant, said: "On the night of his arrest, when I asked him if he had said the girl was dead, he was accepting P. Connelly's statement that she had died." He added that he had been advised by his wife to say that he had been shot in the head.

Mr. Bryant said that the action of the police in ceasing work was quite unjustifiable.

They appealed to Hoskins over the dismissal of Cairns, and Hoskins showed a disposition to consider the matter. The men, however, far from being patient, pressed him by the throat, and he was compelled to leave his office, and now he has died because of it.

He has continued in such an office in an attempt to argue other fine points of self-detachment for the sake of a cause, or whole-hearted concentration upon personal interests, than for the sake of the cause itself.

It is officially announced that Sir C. Inigo Thomas, Permanent Secretary of the Board of Admiralty, is retiring, and that he will be succeeded by Mr. W. Graham Green, present Assistant-Secretary.

Miss Kitty Conly, of Melbourne, appeared with success at a Sunday League Concert in the Queen's Hall.
